Gospel: Matthew 26:14

Palm Sunday is the only Sunday of the year where no homily is offered. The reason is for us to reflect on the Passion events of Christ during Holy Week and not be distracted by unwanted jokes; confused themes by a homilist; or sidetracked by anything other than what Christ endured for our sins and our redemption. This week the homily is one's own personal homily. "What does His passion mean for me". No one can answer that for us.

"Whenever I pass a church, I always make a visit.
So when I face the Lord, He doesn't say, Who is it."
