Gospel: Matthew 22: 1 - 14

The invitations that go out from families for wedding are always important as they represent historical ties and long lasting friendships. So, it is the family's way of bringing together their most treasured friends who have impacted their family. Jesus by choosing this story is telling the Jewish people (the chosen race) by their intransigence to Christ, a new people, a new family will be formed if they accept His Gospel. They did from all corners of the world and are now theologized as the Body of Christ, a deeper term than the chosen race, the invitation is always granted to Saints and sinners alike.
