Gospel: Mark 10:2-16

Jesus Christ actually spoke about marriage – surprise, surprise, surprise. He termed it as a covenant, or vow between a man and a woman to their God. A vow is an extension of the self in the realm of eternal promises that define a reality or define oneself. The church calls marriage a sacrament because nothing compares to the sacrifice of Christ for us, as to the sacrifices a husband and wife make to each other, family society and to the soul or human transcendence. This vow is divine.

A Big Thank You to Peter & Mark DeRutte

A huge branch of the pine tree fell in front of St. Cecilia church on the first week of Fr. Robinson's arrival. Thanks to Peter & Mark DeRutte, they neatly sawed the huge branches into manageable size. All cleared up in no time. THANK YOU VERY VERY MUCH.
