Luke 10 : 38 - 42

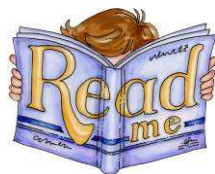

Two sisters with their brother running a farm would be working from sunrise to sunset. The only difference between the sisters was Mary could take time out to enjoy friends, conversation, reflection, prayer, hospitality, charity, family time, time for self, and for Faith. Martha is so business-minded that there is always more work to be done and loses out on the simple but loving human experiences of living life.

Marriage (Part II): For the Catholic Church, marriage is not just another relationship but the most important of all relationships. A sacrament intended by God for spousal happiness and intended for family life, sealed in vows before the community. The first right of a child is the right to a father and a mother. Marriage brings elements of faith into the union. Marriage is the intentionality to commit to another person, so as to bring life into the world. This is not just another relationship. It is a sacred bond participating in creation, the mystery of life.
