John 6: 41 - 51

Jesus says if you know God, you will accept Jesus as God, because in his image all that is in the Father is in the Son of God. There is nothing more to be seen as of God through the Son. So he says you have not seen the Father, but you have seen him in me, for I and the Father are one.

Pope Francis It is our roots that guide, lead us to the future where the next generation begin those roots again.

Racism (Part 1 of 3) Bishop Murray Ohio has said the Catholic Church has failed to speak out with courage against racism far too often. The U.S. Bishops are to bring out a pastoral letter on racism 2018. Racism is violence, Church is for peace. Many times the memory of historical racism, i.e. African Americans, is not easy to heal. Many still feel slurs, hate speech, insensitive gestures as human experiences and unfair criminal justice decisions. Much of this never makes the news. But is prevalent amongst certain American populations. It has led to misunderstanding, mistrust and fear.
