THE CALL

When Jesus invites us: "Come after me..." he challenges us to respond to the essential call to the discipleship.

The gospel tells of a great sacrifice by the first disciples: Simon, Andrew, James and John. They were fishermen. Nets and boat were their livelihood and their security. Yet at Jesus' call, they immediately left everything behind, even their family, to follow Jesus.

God calls us in different ways – different vocations. Jesus calls us not only to become a priest, a deacon, or a nun but to be a good Christian – a good mother, father, husband, wife, teacher, doctor, or worker. Jesus promises us a very simple thing: "Come after me, and I will make you fishers of men." If you and I totally give ourselves to Jesus, he will make us the instruments and witnesses of God's love.

In whatever vocation God might call us, there is one thing in common – to be a good disciple of Christ – following him to proclaim the Gospel of the kingdom and to cure every disease among the people, to love and to serve God and one another through our family, and our community.

Fund Raiser ideas needed: For years, St. Cecilia's had the Golf Tournaments that brought in substantial funding which had ensured the financial stability of St. Cecilia. Many thanks to the efforts of Ginny Kerbs and Brian McPherson. With the golf course no longer available, we are seeking new ideas, hopefully can retain the participation of the amazing group of supportive golfers. Let us know.

From the Pew

Remember in our Daily Prayers the sick and the departed. Special prayers for the healing of Joseph Ly Phan.

Welcome back Fr. Phan from his trip to Vietnam visiting his family. Father returned on Thursday evening. While recovering the jet-lag, said Mass on Friday; and attended the all-day Walk-For-Life event in San Francisco on Saturday! We would like to thank the supply priests: Fr. Te Van Nguyen, Msgr. Romulo Vergara, and Fr. Anthony E. MgGuire for celebrating Masses with us while Fr. Phan was away.

There was a water leak inside the hall in January. Many thanks to Ken Massucco for cleaning and drying up the parish hall. Ken is working with Aidan to assess the damage and take possible prevention actions.

St. Mary's painting and repair project will start first possible time in Spring when the weather is clear.

Archdiocese's Parishioner Survey is available online. Send in your comment, the survey is anonymous. Visit sfarch.org/parish-survey-english (submit by 1/31/2020).
